At honeygrow, we care about animals and believe that strong animal welfare policies are the cornerstone of any responsible restaurant. We are committed to holding our suppliers to the highest standards possible and ensuring that the food we're serving comes from trusted sources.

We are also committed to continually evaluating and improving our animal welfare standards. Thus, by 2024, we will source only chicken certified by Global Animal Partnership (GAP) and require all chickens to be processed in a manner that avoids live-dumping and live-shackling, and instead utilizes a pre-shackle, multi-step controlled-atmosphere processing system that's widely hailed as more humane.
